On June 18th seventy students and community members attended an event sponsored by the Rossi Center for Faith and Culture at the Newman Catholic Student Center. Dr. Hugo Esteva, a prominent surgeon from Argentina demonstrated the co-existence of faith and science. He reflected on the life of Alex Carrel, a Nobel Prize winning French Surgeon whose book, "The Voyage to Lourdes," detailed his witness of a miraculous cure of a tuberculosis victim in spite of his prior skepticism. The Center for Faith and Culture provides funding for regional, national and international speakers to engage, challenge and inspire students and community to live their faith in our culture. Funding also supports a student faith formation special event fellowship. If you are interested in financially supporting the Rossi Center for Faith and Culture endowment, please contact April Rouser.
